LESSON OVERVIEW:
Students will use their exploration of the online exhibition Charmed Soldiers to inspire a modern charm. Through creativity, roots in history, and research, students will defend their design through writing, imagining that their design could someday find its place in a museum.

OBJECTIVES:

Students will:
- Explore and research using an online museum exhibition.
- Use research skills to gather historical knowledge about an artifact.
- Design a modern charm and use detailed writing and evidence to explain that design.

STANDARDS ALIGNMENT:

National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS) C3 Framework Standards:
- D2.His.2.9-12. Analyze change and continuity in historical eras.
- D2.His.5.9-12. Analyze how historical contexts shaped and continue to shape people’s perspectives.

Common Core English Language Arts State Standards:
- CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RI.9-10.1 Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.
- CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RH.9-10.2 Determine the central ideas or information of a primary or secondary source; provide an accurate summary of how key events or ideas develop over the course of the text.

TIME NEEDED:
1 90-minute class
2-3 90-minute classes with extended expectations

INTERDISCIPLINARY:
ELA, Art and Design

PRIOR KNOWLEDGE:
- Students should have a basic understanding of WWI, its causes, who was fighting, and where fighting was occurring.
- Students should be aware of the life and experiences of servicemembers during the war, especially on the frontlines.
- For helpful background information, see the Further Resources section.

MATERIALS NEEDED:
- Charmed Soldiers Exhibition Summary Questions (Appendix A)
- Charmed Soldiers Exhibition Guided Questions (Appendix B)
- Charmed Soldiers Exhibition Research Guide (Appendix C)
Lesson

Pre-assessment/Introduction/Hook:

Host a classroom or partner discussion with your students over the following questions:

- When you have dealt with something that was tough to overcome or process, who or what did you rely on to help you get through that time?
- How did this person or thing help you?
- Why did you look to this person or thing for help? If you did not search them/it out, then how did you end up making that connection?

Summarize that during times of conflict, struggle and hardship, people look to each other, their own beliefs and to objects, in order to find hope, solace and even luck. Today, you will begin exploring what this looked like for some serving during WWI.

- What are some predictions of charms that servicemembers during WWI might have used?

Directions:

Part 1: Exploring the Exhibition

- Students should explore the online exhibition Charmed Soldiers and then answer the summary questions provided (Appendix A).
  - For a more thorough exploration of Charmed Soldiers that will take a full class period, use the guided questions provided instead (Appendix B).
- The guided questions will take them through the entirety of the exhibition so they can get a full picture of the variety of charms, their meaning and their uses.
- Consider if you want students to check their work with you before continuing to Part 2.

Part 2: Research

- Students will then choose a specific type of charm from the exhibition.
- They should complete the research guide (Appendix C) to increase their understanding of this type of charm.
  - The end goal is that students will understand the meanings behind the charm, how the tradition started and how it might still be reflected in today’s cultures.
  - Eventually, they will be using what they have learned to create a modern charm of their own design, so it is important that they understand the roots.
- By looking up the type of charm directly, students should be able to find more information. Additionally, they can look into terms like “WWI good luck charms” to find articles from across various institutions. A few options for research tools include:
  - National WWI Museum and Memorial Online Collections Database
  - Imperial War Museums Collection
    - IWM Article – 5 Lucky Objects of the First World War
  - Australian War Memorial
    - Australian War Memorials Article – Lucky Charms
The British Museum
National Museum of American History Article - The World War I story of Nénette and Rintintin
National Geographic Article – How Good Luck Charms Reflect World Culture
National Army Museum Article – Luck and Superstition

- (Optional) Once students finish their research, consider if you would like them to share with a partner or group, or even to fully jigsaw their learning. This can allow students to have a broader understanding of charms in general before they move on to Part 3.

Part 3: Design
- Students will analyze their research to design their own good luck charm. The design must meet the following expectations:
  - Must be based, at least in part, on historical good luck charms
  - Must be a new design that would meet modern wants, needs and aesthetics
  - Students should sketch and label their charm design
- (Optional) Students can create a physical 3D version of their charm. Consider what materials you can make available or that they might have access to. A few examples might be:
  - Air-dry or modeling clay
  - Fabric
  - 3D modeling software
  - Recycled materials

POST-ASSESSMENT:
Once students have created their design, they will write a mini history for their charm that could live in a museum exhibition. The history should include:
- What historical charm(s) is the design rooted in?
- What is the meaning behind the charm concept?
- What group of people might find this charm most comforting and why?
- An explanation of the overall design:
  - Why does it look the way it does?
  - What similarities does it share with charms from the past? Why?
  - What differences does it have compared to charms from the past? Why?

(Optional) Determine if you would like for students to share their designs with their classmates through a gallery walk.

MODIFICATIONS/ACCOMMODATIONS
Provide struggling students with an outline for their writing. For advanced students, add the challenge of creating a historical timeline of one or more types of charms from the exhibition. This should include any history of the charm from before WWI, as well as after.
