Online Collections Database Scavenger Hunt

Being a historian can mean scavenging for primary source materials, defending your interpretation and clearly communicating how to find those exact resources later.
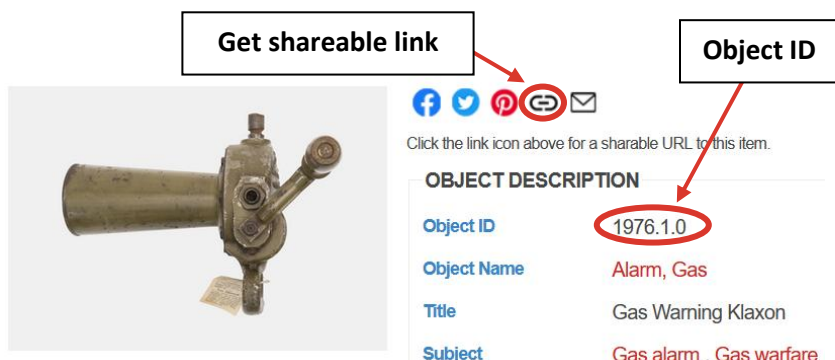

There are various ways to cite information. At the National WWI Museum and Memorial, we suggest citing the online collections database in the following format:

Online Collections Database, <"object ID">, www.theworldwar.org/explore/online-collections-database. National WWI Museum and Memorial. Online. Accessed <Access date>.

- The Object ID is the official listing for the object in the Online Collections Database and can be found as the first thing on any object's page.

Finding a Direct Link:
The URL at the top of the page will not directly take someone to that object. To get a direct link, you will need to click on the "Create Shareable URL" button.

Complete this scavenger hunt by carefully searching theworldwar.org Online Collections Database.

Happy hunting, historian!

1. Candidate for best mustache
2. Candidate for best dressed
3. Most indecipherable handwriting
4. Best line of lyrics from sheet music
5. Something related to money
6. Letter discussing the flu
7. Something cooked/cooking you'd want to be served
8. An image of royalty
9. Woman wearing a military-style uniform
10. Something written in a language other than English